FORMATION MUNICIPAL HOSPITAL DIST. WELL UNDER WEIGH

The meeting which was held at Edgerton on Thursday last for the purpose of discussing the advisability or otherwise of forming a municipal hospital district saw a crowded gathering, a large number being in attendance in addition to the accredited delegates.

The discussion showed a full grasp of the situation and all were allowed an expression of opinion, although the final voting was in the hands of the accredited delegates.

Messrs. Fish and Dewar, town of Wainwright; Morrow and Smith, village of Edgerton; Keith, village of Chauvin; Love and Wyatt, village of Irma; Sante and Hill, M. D. No. 423; Bailey, M. D. No. 422; Saul, M. D. No. 421; Sharf, M. D. No. 451; and Hines and Snyder, M. D. No. 392.

Messrs. E. Keith, of Chauvin and W. J. Huntington, of Chauvin, were elected as chairman and secretary respectively.

Mr. H. P. May opened the proceedings by explaining that this was really the outcome of a meeting held previously in Wainwright, and stating that each Municipal Council in the proposed affected district had been advised and requested to send a representative.

In his remarks he showed that practically all territory surrounding the proposed area was now included in some hospital district, and therefore the object of the gathering was to discuss the feasibility of forming a municipal hospital district with the territory left open.

Mr. Wyatt outlined the old plan of forming hospital districts and stated that through an oversight villages were not included as under the old Act only main hospitals were provided for.

This Act was now amended so as to allow for a main hospital with small sub-hospitals at distant points in the district.

He showed that this scheme was in force by the Red Deer Hospital Board and that the Act placed control in the hands of the hospital board which of course governed the whole district.

Mr. Hill, of Irma, thought that possibly the cost of the plan drawn by the department estimates could be reduced now that prices were on the wane, and also mentioned that their was a possibility that some territory now included in the Manville hospital district could be brought into this district if formed.

Mr. Hawkins (Irma) read the figures of the estimated cost as laid down by the provincial health department. With the scheme involved, this included a large main hospital at Wainwright, with sub-hospitals at the villages of Irma, Edgerton and Chauvin.

Mr. Sharf mentioned that only the small portion of his municipality which was south of the Battle river could be included in this scheme as the balance was all now in another district.

In discussing the real needs for hospital throughout the affected territory, Mr. Bailey thought that the personal element was hardly the big point to raise; it was really the sentiment and avowed needs of the community which would prove the success or otherwise of the scheme, and this could not be known until a vote is taken; although he felt sure that any scheme which would really provide the necessary service could be put to the people would be sanctioned.

Mr. Dewar felt that to carry out the scheme of several buildings would be a rather heavy one to bear and an estimate should be put before the people who would have to foot the bill, so

"FATS" FAILED TO TAKE REVENGE AT BROOM-BALL GAME

It was a regular raft of fun which was provided on Friday night, by both the "broom-ball" artists (fats vs slims) and the lacrosse-ball players (Married vs. Singles), the only pity being that on account possibly of the sudden cold snap the attendance was very meagre.

In the contests the "slims" just managed to notch one lonely goal in the three periods, while despite strenuous efforts the "fats" could not "even up," and the married men got the long end of a 6-2 score with the lacrosse sticks.

After the play a fair number came in for the moccasin dance and a skate, and the music of the town band made these pastimes very enjoyable until a late hour.

HAMILTON HONORED BY KING'S COMMAND

The popular Hale Hamilton, who will be seen in his latest comedy-drama success, a Metro picture called "The Four Flushers," at the Elite theatre, on Friday and Saturday next, is one of the few great American actors who has had the unusual distinction of being commanded by the British King, while he was in London starring in that famous success "Get-Rich Quick Wallingford," to give a royal command performance at Windsor Castle.

This is an honor of which few American stars can boast, and is a mark of the highest achievement in the English theatres. It is no wonder that an actor of Mr. Hamilton's calibre should rise to the heights he has attained on the screen, and it is said that "The Four Flushers" which is his latest big Metro success, he portrays a role very similar to that of the famous financier of the stage in which he created a sensation internationally.

Mr. W. C. Bowen has returned from his trip to Carnduff, Sask. and reports that his father is now progressing nicely.

SOLDIER SETTLERS MUST ACT QUICKLY CHANGE HOMESTEADS

Mr. A. Norquay, Agent, Dominion Lands, Edmonton writes that Provision is made in the "Land Regulations" that a soldier who had obtained entry before enlistment and could not secure a soldier grant in the vicinity of his homestead, was permitted to exchange his homestead entry for another that he might select in the vicinity of his soldier grant selection.

Under circular letter from the Department, dated the 23rd of February, 1921, agents of Dominion lands have been advised that this privilege is to be discontinued after the 1st of May, 1921.

BROKEN ARCH-BAR CAUSES SPILL IN WAINWRIGHT YARDS

A real dirty spill in the railroad yards was caused on Monday afternoon, when a freight train pulled in from the east. Just opposite the depot two loaded cars—one with coal, the other with oil—followed down No. 6 track instead of the lead, and the coal car finally jammed into a flat loaded with heavy timbers.

One pair of trucks of the flat was derailed and the other two cars "scissored," tearing up several lengths of track. The accident, which was caused by a broken arch-bar was soon cleared away by the local repair men and the section crew.

WASHBURN COMEDY HAS FINE SCENES

"Wonder where those scenes were made. For pure natural beauty, they're great," was the comment of one spectator at the Elite theatre last evening, where Bryant Washburn in his new Paramount-Artcraft picture farce, "Why Smith Went Home" is the attraction.

He referred to the country surrounding the hangar in which Mr. Washburn, as Smith, begins his tumultuous honeymoon. It is a rugged mountainous region, in which a lake of "purest rare" nestles.

The locale is the famous Lake Tahoe, among the most beautiful in Northern California. Director Donald Crisp took the entire company there for a week to film the scenes.

Master Douglas Wallace was the guest of honor on Friday last when some dozen or more of the coming citizens of our town assisted him to properly celebrate his sixth birthday. Needless to say the kiddies all enjoyed themselves immensely!

Mrs. Walter Turpenning and children arrived home Sunday night from the east after spending four months holiday visiting friends and relatives.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice for a retired judge to draw two salaries. After his term is complete, it will be available again for the rest of his life.

Krasin points out the importance of creating a great "flow" of goods for export. He says that the whole matter of Russian trade exchanges depends on this.

Smaller Farms and More Schools

"Scientific farming on a small scale would bring higher profits to the western farmer and quicker development for the country," declared C. S. Noble, of Nobleford, Sask., largest individual farmer for the west, in an interview recently.

"Farmers in the west have cultivated large areas simply because land was cheap. But we must get away from the idea of so many acres and turn attention to the number of bushels per acre, to get the best results," he said. "Under present labor conditions the man who extensively cultivates a half section will make greater gains than the large farmer. A big population of small scale farmers, who are personally interested in the land, will bring prosperity to the prairies."

Mr. Noble has 35,000 acres under cultivation and has been a successful large scale farmer from the start. "It takes many years to develop a large farm to a profit basis of operation," he said.

Faction in Ireland Against Crime

The Sunday Telegram, owned by Francis Batemay, editor of John Bull, now asserts the existence of a third party in Ireland "concerning itself with executing justice, according to its own view of any persons who commit alleged crimes and escape punishment." The newspaper states that this party is styled "the middle party" and that it frequently meets. Its headquarters is in North Wall where there are conferences with military officers of high standing. The names of either Sinn Féin or Government forces charged with murder are produced and judged. If persons so named are found guilty, sentences are pronounced and the victims soon after are found dead.

The correspondent says the party has ramifications in the provinces and is composed mainly of middle class business men. He cited instances of execution by the party but withheld names.

The directors are believed to feel very strongly on the matter, and in some quarters it is hinted that Mr. Hanna and the whole board may resign if their policy is overruled.

With him was a woman who states she is his wife, also a child, two years old. When found they were almost unclad. They always slept on a pile of old sacks in a tumbledown cabin which was a retreat of bushwhackers during the Civil War. They subsisted on wild fruits, roots, herbs, fish, and such animals as they could trap. The old man asserts he taught his wife with a steel trap many years ago. One of the oldest men in the country, died at Toronto last week, in the person of Joseph Mantell, in his 111th year. He was born in Edmonton, England, in 1810.

From Frying Pan Into Fire

Albert Griggs and Joseph Hilton, two Toronto men who escaped from the penitentiary at Penitentiary last fall and drove off in Warden Penford's auto, are now serving terms in American prisons, according to information received by the police of Toronto. Griggs was arrested in El Paso, N. Y., and sentenced to five years for the theft of an auto and Hilton was arrested in Michigan for robbery.

Shorter Than Mark Millers

Hon. Duncan Marshall, Minister of Agriculture for Alberta, addressing the annual meeting of the Dual Purpose Shorthorn Club in Toronto recently, stated that "ninety per cent. of the milk and cream supplied to the city trade in Alberta, and ninety per cent. of the raw material for cheese and butter are produced by milking short horns."

Hon. Mr. Marshall said that if the dual purpose shorthorn was to make too many more cars must be taken in breeding and selection, particularly in bulls.

George E. Day, secretary of the Dominion Shorthorn Breeders' Association said that from 25 to 30 per cent. of the inquiries he receives from prospective buyers in the west related to talking short horns, and that in the west it ran as high as 50 per cent.

To Break Up Soviet

An article has been recently printed by Nikolai Lesnina, the Russian Bolshevik premier, declaring that the fight between the labor unions and the soviets for supremacy will break up the whole Bolshevik state system, unless a settlement is soon reached. The article declares that the majority of the Russian Laborites are too selfish. "They are out for material benefit to themselves, at the expense of the general welfare of the Communist state," it says.

Teachers' Convention Stated For Toronto

Preliminary arrangements have been completed for the second Imperial Conference of Teachers' Associations, which will be held in Toronto, August 10 to 13 of this year.

At the meeting of the conference in London, in 1914, an invitation was extended to the conference by the Minister of Education for Ontario, on behalf of the province, to hold its next session in Toronto, in 1915. The war intervened and it is now impossible to carry out the arrangements which were then planned.

Return to Russia With Wealth

Two hundred Russians who arrived in Boston seven years ago, as poor immigrants, are now about to return to their native land with nearly $500,000 in their purses, and $250,000 worth of jewels. With this amount they expect to spend the rest of their lives in ease. They say they will sail for Lillo, and proceed on horseback to the interior, where their families await them.

First Woman PaParliamentary Speaker Appointed

A precedent has been made in the province of British Columbia, when the opening of the first session of the Fifth Legislative will be made notable by the creation of the first woman Speaker of any parliament in the world. At a meeting of the Provincial Cabinet a few days ago it was decided that Premier Oliver, at the opening of the session would nominate Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith, M.L.A., Vancouver, for Speaker and the nomination will be seconded by W. J. Bowser, M.C., M.L.A. leader of the opposition.

Operating Mill Still

Thomas Lepowicki of Cedoux district was recently sentenced to Regina jail for a three months' term, for operating a liquor still. This was his second offence. Last fall he was fined $300 for the same offence.

Body Exhumed

Three years ago Richard S. Lawrence, of Madison, Wis., was supposedly killed by a railway train. His wife, however, has always maintained that he was murdered, for a fortune of $300,000 which she asserted he possessed. She said his body had been tampered with at the cemetery. The body of Lawrence has been ordered exhumed by the District Attorney, in an effort to determine in what manner he came to his death.

WAINWRIGHT, ALBERTA, MARCH 16th, 1921.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER.

This topic has been thrust upon us and we are not by any means sorry for this. It has been our aim and object to produce an independent newspaper and we have, according to our own judgment lived up to our ideal. Possibly our judgment is distorted, possibly not, others can judge that, but we would like to make our position clear.

We have featured our editorial columns and believe that a newspaper not carrying regular editorial columns, with the writing mainly original is not worthy of the name of newspaper. It is not an entity. All live newspaper men hold the same opinion—and so do live readers.

Our editorials are written from our personal point of view and from what we gather from those we come in contact with, and we converse with people from a wide area. We are trained to give due consideration to all public questions, writing just as we feel and as we speak to the whole district. This we do because we seek to be honest and clear; not because we fear to give offense.

Our definition of an independent newspaper is one that is not morally or financially backed or tied up to any individual, party, church, lodge or other agency. A paper which not alone carries news and advertising, but a paper which deals fearlessly with all topics of the day whether it be to praise or censure.

Such a paper is The Star. The editor stands alone; is tied to nobody (save in wedlock) and though some of our editorials please some, none of them please all. Those which please some naturally offend others and vice versa. We are not seriously concerned over this. It is part and parcel of calling we follow. We touch on topics as we view them, we may be right, we may at times be wrong but we certainly are independent.

If any of our valued subscribers differ with us they are very welcome to all the necessary space to air their views, but we of course reserve the right of reply. If anyone desires us to run a mere sheet of town and neighborhood gossip they will not be gratified, as we always have aimed at running a newspaper, with a personality behind it. They would not seek an independent paper; they would desire a paper which was of no purpose, whose editor would need to be a deuced good fellow who either had no opinions of his own or who lacked the courage to give them expression. So far we are not in this class and never intend to be.

THE MUNICIPAL HOSPITAL SCHEME

There can be no gainsaying the fact that the meeting held at Edmonton in the interests of the municipal hospital district augured well for the ultimate success of the whole scheme as outlined. The enthusiasm displayed by the several speakers, the keen desire for facts and figures, the thrashing out of the pros and cons, all bespeak a close attention to the matter and to the absolute needs of the entire community.

Despite the fact that one or two of the speakers (either from mistaken or other motives) attempted to draw the proverbial "red-herring across the trail" the final outcome of the gathering was most decidedly a step in the right direction, for if there is one thing more than any other that is a sheer necessity in the advancement of civilization through a country of pioneers it is medical attention and hospital accommodation.

Such a scheme as is on foot will, we feel sure, commend itself to the majority of the electorate in the districts affected—despite the fact that at this stage all do not see eye to eye on minor points connected with it—and no time will be lost in getting down to work on the part of those in whose hands the meeting held has placed the matter.

"All for one and one for all" could well be hailed as the slogan for the "Wainwright District Municipal Hospital Scheme."

THE ELECTRIC LIGHT QUESTION

There can be no doubt in the minds of the ratepayers of Wainwright that the Town Council have at last taken the proper steps with regard to the matter of the electric light, supply and the affairs of that company. As the matter now stands, the complaints which have been heard from all quarters with regard to the poor service and the high rate charged will be either justified by uncontrollable circumstances or marked up as sheer indifference to public needs, and the motion by Councillor Dewar to have the council meet the company for a "show-down" is surely a timely one.

The company are indebted to the ratepayers of the Town of Wainwright for the tidy sum of $3000.00 by way of a mortgage on the plant, and from good authority we learn that interest on this is not being met, in addition to which the taxes on the property held by the company (such as power plant, pole-line, etc.) are not being paid.

All this, of course, a very unsatisfactory state of affairs, especially when it is remembered that users of the company's product are paying a far higher rate per kw. than any other town of its size in the province, and when there is coupled to this the poor class of service which the ratepayers have been inconvenienced with practically all the winter, and it would seem that unless some very powerful excuse can be advanced by the company for these factors at the suggested meeting, the remarks of Councillor McLeod that "it would seem that the town would eventually have to foreclose and take over the outfit" were well called for, although as was explained by another speaker that this might ultimately lead to unknown (at this time) expense.

WOMEN JURORS
IN ALBERTA

Women are entitled to serve as jurors in Alberta under the new Jury Act prepared by Hon. J. R. Boyle, attorney-general, copies of which have just been distributed to members of the legislature. It is stipulated that no woman can be compelled to serve unless prior to the summons she signs a document stating her willingness to do so. Members of the legislature, salaried officials and employees of provincial, municipal and federal governments are exempted from obligatory jury service as well as:

Officers of a court of justice, federal, provincial and municipal police, salaried firemen, teachers, professors or employees of universities, colleges, schools, all the clergy, physicians, druggists, lawyers, students at law, editors, reporters and printers, ferryman, mail carriers, postmasters, railway telephone and telegraph employees, millers and employees of mills and officers of the army on full pay.

One of the main provisions of the act is that the sheriff of each judicial district shall prior to the first of November of each year compile a separate list from voters' lists and assessment rolls, or otherwise, of names to be submitted to each sitting of the court in his district during the following year, these lists to contain not less than 500 names of persons liable to serve as jurors.

The selection of regular juries shall be by drawing at a time and place directed by a judge, the sheriff making the draws from some receptacle in which names of qualified jurors have been placed in sealed envelopes. Each jury shall include six persons, any five of whom may return a verdict in civil actions, but in criminal actions the verdict must be unanimous.

The exemptions and other provisions relating to women are original and interesting. Until the parliament of Canada enacted that it shall not be necessary to keep the jury together during the adjournment of a trial of indictable offences, no woman shall be summoned to serve on a criminal jury. In all actions triable by a jury, if a woman be party to the action she demand that three of the six jurors shall be women; if all parties to the action be women they may demand a jury entirely composed of women; if the rights of a woman not a party to the action be involved, she may apply to the judge for an order that one-half or all the jury be women, and the judge shall use his discretion. If all the parties join in a notice to the clerk, the jury shall be composed of men only, although provision is made for a jury composed entirely of women. In certain cases women are specifically barred from criminal juries even when all the parties to the action are women.

TRAVEL PROVES
GOOD INVESTMENT

In every person's life at some time or other there comes a feeling of utter exhaustion, or as some say "Fed Up" with a general lack of interest in their everyday surroundings. Hard work is as a rule blamed for this condition, and little is done to remedy it until too late and the family physician is called. Work may be to a certain extent responsible for this condition, but the chief reason is the lack of a change, a relaxation of the mind. Get away for a few weeks vacation, see new sights and how the rest of the world live. Enjoy a change of climate. There are thousands of interesting places in Canada which may be enjoyed either winter or summer, and within easy reach via the Canadian Pacific Railway.

A trip at any season of the year will prove a good investment and send you back with renewed vigor, broader views and much wiser from the knowledge gained. A postal card to any Canadian Pacific Agent will bring you literature and any information desired.

ERADICATION OF WEEDS

It is impossible to estimate even approximately the loss caused by weeds of Canadian agriculture. A bulletin recently published in the United States estimates the annual loss due to weeds in that country at more than $300,000,000. Not long ago a western paper stated that the annual loss to farmers of Saskatchewan due to weeds was not less than $29,000,000. If there is this loss in one province, the total in all Canada must be tremendous. There are many districts in the Dominion that stand high in weed production.

Weeds cause a direct, actual money loss such as those due to drought, hail or frost. There is also a loss in depreciation of property badly infested with weeds.

We do not know the full reason why weeds reduce crop yields, but it is well known that weeds deprive crops of moisture, plant food, and sunlight, which cause decreased yields. A crop of grain or grass and clover seed which contains weed seeds will not grade No. 1, and there are certain weed seeds which it is well nigh impossible to screen out. Every time a sample of grain or grass seed drops a grade, the price is lowered.

Weeds cause much extra work, must be handled a number of times in a grain crop, and extra ploughing and cultivating are necessary in a weed-infested field if a crop is to be obtained. Net profits are reduced because of increased cost of production and of cheapened product. In a sense, farming is a war on weeds. This warfare must be unremitting and relentless if the farmer is to emerge victorious. Many men make a start to clear their farm of weeds, but quit too soon. The campaign is stopped when success is in sight. The plan of attack must be carefully made and faithfully carried out. Every farmer should be his own weed eradicator.

Lack of careful planning with reference to weeds is too frequent of national concern and calls for active co-operation on a large scale. Every member of the community is affected and should lend assistance. Farmers, weed inspectors, owners of vacant property, township and county councils, and government must work together if weeds are to be held in check.

The trouble is how to get rid of the weeds and keep them out. First, follow a short rotation of crops; cultivate the land thoroughly and often; prevent weeds going to seed; clean all seed before it is sown.

If the grain field is weedy, seed it heavily to clover and grass; sow the annuals and biennials before they seed and pasture closely to keep down perennials; follow by a hoed crop or another crop and most varieties of weeds will be checked. —F. C. Nunnick.

As I think of you often and of all that concerns you I cannot help thinking too of children in other lands who are still suffering from want and hunger because of the ravages of the great war, and I hope that in the midst of your comfort and plenty you sometimes think of them too. At the present time in China millions of children are starving. It is very hard to realize the true meaning of real starvation, and I pray with all my heart that no child who reads these lines may ever in their lives experience it and that none of those who are near and dear to them may do so either.

Perhaps some of you may be able in various ways to help in the relief of these other children and if you can, I am sure you will. Remember that every kindly thought and action which we think and perform—goes to make not only us better, but the whole world better. I should like you, while you are young, to get that into your mind, that your interests should be universal, and that we are a part not only of your home and the community in which you live, but a part of this country, Canada, a part of the British Empire, and then an important part of the whole wide world.

I am still anxious to receive letters from all our boys and girls. Do not forget the birthdays which I wish to put in my birthday book so that I can remember you when the date comes round.

"Impossible sir, said Gluck.

He spoke in so melancholy a tone that it quite melted Gluck's heart. "They promised me one slice today, sir," said he; "I can give you that, but not a bit more."

Human life in its developments and workings does not follow the lines laid down by any blueprint. The German writer of thick books of theory such as Karl Marx, living in London, devoted his days and nights to producing. Human life does not follow the plans and specifications devised by any theorist, respectable or otherwise, German or otherwise, Socialist or Communist, or otherwise. Human life develops in accordance with the laws of human nature. No state system can do the things that can be done only by the operation of the spiritual forces of human individuals. There is profound significance in the fact that the Bolsheviki regime has banished every suggestion of Christianity from the schools in Russia. The gospel of Karl Marx, of which Lenin and Trotzky and their associates are the high-priests, scornfully leaves out of account, and brushes aside the essentials of human individualities, and reduces humanity to the com-dition of the bee-hive, in which each and every worker is a living machine and no more, subjected to every moment of his life and work worse than the State-control of Germany ever was. The core of the teaching of Jesus is that each and every man should be faithful to his or her own conscience and to God as an individual, work out the Golden Rule of doing unto others as he would have others do unto him without any thought of the system to bring about results which cannot be brought about otherwise than by the action of the spiritual potentialities within ourselves. The State-system of Communism is fundamentally wrong, in asserting the possibility of establishing a State-system with conscience, and thus unhampered and unlimited above human limitations. It is a system that rightly the State and above the State and every individual. Sooner or later Russia will overthrow the State and the human body throws off the shackles of poisoning by his evil drug.

Question: Farmer, Who wrote "The Vicar of Wakefield?"

Answer. Oliver Goldsmith was the author of the above much-read story, and there is a pathetic incident in connection with it. It is said that on one occasion Samuel Johnson found poor Goldsmith arrested by his landlady for debt, and in his desk lay the manuscript of "The Vicar of Wakefield."

which Doctor Johnson took out and sold to a bookseller for $300, enabling the impractical author to pay off his debts to his landlady—and apparently to incur new ones; for when he died in his lodgings at Brick Court, in the Temple, London, April 4, 1774, he was ten thousand dollars in debt.

Oliver Goldsmith was born in Ireland, September 10, 1728. He was 21 years of age when he managed to take the degree of Bachelor of Arts, at Dublin University.

SOME CHRONICLES OF THE DAYS OF THE WAR
PARTY AND THE BUFFALO—STORIES TOLD
AROUND THE FIRES OF THE HUNTING
CAMPS OF BYGONE DAYS

Although it sounds strange yet it is a fact that nearly two-thirds of Canada is almost unknown and uninhabited at the present time save by bands of wandering Indians of the Esquimaux. Northern Canada is as yet unexplored in a sense which is not even true of Africa. There are several reasons for this. The first is that the explorer in the north has to contend with a climate more hostile than in any other part of the world. It is impossible to live in such a climate only by being well supplied with food, shelter people and most of them are Indians. In the winter they live by hunting and trapping but they usually move toward the coast for fish during a few weeks in the summer. The traps of one man may extend for a distance of fifty miles over the snow-covered land. It often takes several days to visit them all. Many a time he can find nothing but bits of fur to reward him for his toil, a sure sign that the game has been killed. The line has stolen a march upon him.

The great source of food for the Indians has always been the

In northern Canada the food supply is very uncertain, as you can never tell when the wandering bands of caribou may be, and in the depth of winter they all go south. Fish can usually be obtained, but only at certain places and even there they sometimes fail. There is a large part of the country north of the Hudson Bay, fuel is totally lacking.

Neither can the work of exploration be left until the weather, first because the summer lasts for such a short time and also in summer the bogs and swamps are nearly or quite impassable, whereas in the cold weather the frost makes them dry and firm.

The caribou, but these are fast being exterminated. They move north in the summer, south in the winter, and the Indians hunt them while they are on their journey. Then they travel in large herds and are most numerous at the shallow parts of rivers which they must cross. Here the Indians hunt them and there is a great slaughter. The Indians are now trapping the fur-bearing animals, the skins of which they carry to the coast in the summer and sell to the fur traders.

The soil in Ungava is not good for farming and the winters are very cold, but there are valuable forests and there may be minerals.

On a map of Canada may be seen a great triangular block of land between Hudson's Bay on the west and the Atlantic Ocean on the east. If the map is a recent one, this huge country will be included in the province of Quebec, of which it now forms a part. The true name is Ungava, but the name is seldom used, or New Quebec is sometimes preferred to call it. Others call it Labrador or the Peninsula of Labrador; but it is not Labrador, for that is a narrow strip of land along the Atlantic side of the Peninsula and belongs, not to the province of Quebec.

The story of the Yukon has become, to a great extent, a story of the past, a past when fortunes were made in a few weeks and lost in a few months, a past when men were lost forever. This is nearly always the case in mining countries and of far greater interest than the fact that gold has been found there is the chance that some day this vast territory will be the scene of a new era of supporting the people who may go there. Here, as in the case of Ungava, however, little is known as to the other kinds of resources which the country may possess.

Canada, but to Newfoundland. You will find a description of the true Labrador in the article on Newfoundland. There is, however, little or nothing known about this vast peninsula, but the call of the unknown has always had a great attraction for a certain type of man and many have not hesitated to respond.

The southern part of this country, however, has a milder climate in winter than the interior of Ungava, as it is blessed with the warmer winds from the great Pacific. The west coasts of all the continents are warmer than the eastern and in this respect the Yukon is no exception.

The Northwest Territories include all that part of the Canadian continent that is not contained in the nine provinces or in the Yukon. They are bounded on the east by Hudson Bay, on the south by the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta, British Columbia, and on the west by the Yukon Territory and on the north by the Arctic Ocean. The southwestern portion of this area, particularly the valley of the Peace River, by all odds is the most valuable.

Here trees are found in the

This fact makes it possible to use canoes but as many of the rivers are shallow and rapid, the canoes and fowl have to be carried by pack animals. The great number of the rivers makes it easy to get lost, for our maps are poor and a person is quite likely to go astray in a country where the rivers and lakes are so plentiful. It is not so much the canoes, too, unless one carries sufficient food to last the journey they may starve to death for wild animals cannot be depended upon for food and every fisherman knows that fish will not always take the fly or allow themselves to be caught in other ways.

In the whole of Ungava there are probably no more than 3,000

Home made bread is without doubt the cheapest and most healthful food that can be produced for human consumption. It is the most completely digested solid food in the world, over 90% of it being transformed into health and strength. It yields nearly twice as much nourishment as rice or potatoes, and is ten times as nourishing as an equal value of meat. No bread is more truly wholesome or more perfectly satisfactory than that baked at home in which Royal Yeast Cakes are used.

Scientists have discovered a new and truly wonderful use for Royal Yeast Cakes. Physicians are prescribing it with remarkable success for conditions attributed to poor blood conditions. Soak a cake of Royal Yeast for half an hour in a cup of luke-warm water with one teaspoon sugar. Then stir well and strain once or twice through muslin and drink the liquid. BETTER results will be obtained by allowing it to soak over night and drinking half an hour before breakfast. Repeat as often as desired. Send name and address for free booklet entitled "Royal Yeast for Better Health."

Northwest Territories is well named the Barren Lands. They are nearly bare of trees and in winter the only wild animals found are the musk-ox and wolf-venise, while the only sample of vegetation is the Arctic which is said only to be found where it is cold enough to freeze mercury.

At the extreme north of this land, along the Arctic coast the Eskimos have supported themselves the year round. In the winter these strange people live in houses built of blocks of ice or snow, unlighted and unheated save by a seal oil lamp or stove, for it serves the purpose of a lamp and stove. Though explorers have been glad to accept their hospitality, their method of existence seems unattractive to white people, especially during the depths of winter, when for weeks at a time the sun never shows his face about the horizon and the darkness is a little darker than the days.

The lines of rivers and lakes which map a of the Barrenes show, are the roads followed by these people. There is a chance that minerals may be found in these uninviting lands, but the chance is rather a poor one as so far nothing very promising has been seen.

Islands of the Arctic

Not so very long ago expeditions have been sent by water around the Atlantic and the islands in the Arctic Ocean beyond the Canadian mainland. So far a few Esquimaux have been seen, but it is not likely that white men will ever

This is only true, of course, within the Arctic circle where the Esquimaux live.

The chief reason why the Barrier Lands are a terror to the winter explorer is because there is no wood there for fuel and so it must be carried from the border on dog sleds. Now wood is very bulky and only a small quantity

NOW, LET'S HAVE A
LITTLE CHAT TOGETHER

(Concluded from last week.)

This is a point that will not be overlooked by those who wish to reach and influence public opinion for special purposes. Just how far the newspapers of Canada have arrived at the stage of a joint control in the spread of opinion is indicated by the unanimity with which the recent suspension of oil regulations in the Mackenzie river region was accepted, by them, and the equally unanimous acceptance of the new regulations even before the retroactive features were amended. When the newspaper field is narrowed down to the expression of only one side of public opinion the newspaper becomes a dangerous and effective weapon of special privilege, interest and advantage. It does the exact reverse of what has hitherto been expected of it. There must be more than one view of all public questions. If only one view can find newspaper expression all other views are thereby repressed, or even suppressed; with results that do not tend to the public well being.

A newspaper is not merely a printed sheet; nor the mechanical appliances or business and literary effort necessary to produce it. It is not in the ordinary sense of the word a business enterprise. It is essentially a means for the expression and spread of ideas. It is of value in proportion as the ideas which it expresses and spreads are for the public good, and find acceptance by the people concerned. Its value is not measured by the cost of its mechanical equipment, by the numbers of its pages, or by the returns on the money invested. Its value is in the impression it makes on the public mind—for good or ill—commonly called "influence." Its value is not less, but more, because its product is intangible. Nor is the material cost of its production less because its product cannot be weighed or measured, eaten or worn. As the mind directs the activities of the body, therefore, the conclusions of the mind may well be of more value than that which provides for the needs of the body. As the newspaper may be of more material value than some ordinary business enterprise, it might be of greater material cost. But as a matter of fact the paper even as it is today, is the cheapest thing that money can buy; and as a medium of publicity gives greater and more efficient service for less money than any other agency.

For $200 the subscriber receives 52 copies of The Star. This is less than five cents each. Having regard to quantity only, the newspaper at double the present subscription rates would be the cheapest thing that money could buy. Indeed, the only coin small enough to be used to pay the present yearly price for a copy of The Wainwright Star is not in general use.

The publicity service rendered by a newspaper through its advertising columns so far exceeds in efficiency any other means of publicity at the price that comparisons cannot be made. Every newspaper subscription means a reading circle which includes every member of the household who can read. It also generally includes neighbors and friends. Its contents are the subject of family and neighborhood discussion year in and year out. The more newsy the reading matter and the more approved the opinions expressed the more intensely and regularly the paper is read. That means that its advertising columns are the more certain to attract the readers' attention. If newspaper rates were twice what they are now they would still be the cheapest as well as the best available medium of publicity, public attention to the business offers made.

The fact that under prevailing conditions newspapers cost comparatively little to publish and therefore could give their services at low rates, has really nothing to do with the present state of affairs. The newspapers must submit to production costs that are beyond their control. If the public will not carry these increased costs by paying increased prices for newspaper service, many of the newspapers that remain must cease publication, as so many others have already done. The newspaper is one of the greatest essentials of free institutions in modern civilized society. It costs more than it did, but it would cost civilized society a great deal more to be without the newspaper than to support it, even subject to the present increased cost of production. The newspaper today gives more service for less money than any other institution of modern civilization. This is a fact! Ponder it!
